The way your business handles cash could be costing you. Manually counting money takes a lot of time and manpower.

Reduce the time and employees needed to maintain money throughout the day with our completely automated cash room solution. Designed for nearly all retail sale applications, the CCR-500 is a customized solution that integrates the latest cash processing technology. Pairing the world-reknown CIMA Currency Recycling Unit with the CC&D Coin Recycling Unit allows small to mid-size retail chains and government offices to utilize the technology benefits of solutions costing twice as much.

Start your work day quickly. After securely logging into the system using the touchscreen monitor, the CCR-500 will automatically dispense the pre-programmed till amount for each user. The CCR-500 can make change and store deposits throughout the day which increases productivity and improves the customer experience. When you're ready to reconcile, the machine will quickly and accurately balance all tills while allowing you to create your bank deposit with a few taps on the monitor.

Improve your process by eliminating human error, maintaining employee accountability, improving cash flow, and lowering man hours. Call us today to learn more!
